Modern and minimalist doors

Lexa doors are a perfect blend of durability, elegance, and high quality. With a 4.5 cm thickness and a three-layer structure, they are made of two MDF layers with a Russian wood core, ensuring exceptional strength and longevity.

The frame of these doors is made of plywood, which offers higher resistance to water and moisture absorption compared to other materials, making it a reliable choice for various environments.

Lin

Crafted with precision and quality, the Lin door is designed to complement contemporary interiors. Its sleek structure features a plywood frame, known for its water-resistant properties, and a three-layer build that enhances strength. Choose between visible butterfly hinges for a classic look or concealed hinges for a minimalist, seamless finish. With its customizable finishes and versatile design, the Linn door effortlessly blends into any modern home or office space.
